That looks terrific MVH. Now we just need to get you using a Wicked Edge so you can halve your time on a knife like that (because you can work both sides)

Very nice! J've done a couple of Benchmades in M390... takes a great edge!!!
(Mine's not near as purty as yours though)

Michael,

Which model Spyderco is that? I can't see the handle in any of the photos and can't Identify the knife by the blade shape. You do not mention the model on your blog that I could see either.

In any case, good job on the blog. Nice pics and great write ups.
