New forum for off topic discussions?

Would it be possible to have a "misc" forum here? As we make friends here and find we have other things in common, a place for us to chat that won't derail the purpose of the other forums. Not political debate or any of that junk, I just mean a place where we can talk about nice things as we make friends here and find we have other things in common besides knives

I'd vote for this... hopefully it can be implemented.

I would vote for this. In the other forums I feel the need to be informative. And I'm not very good at that.

"No politics" is a good rule of thumb... most "off topic" forums have it.

I think I'll move this into the new "Off Topic" section.

Yes, CBW is right, NO POLITICS! It only makes people grumpy and there are plenty of other places on the web to go for a grumpy fix.
