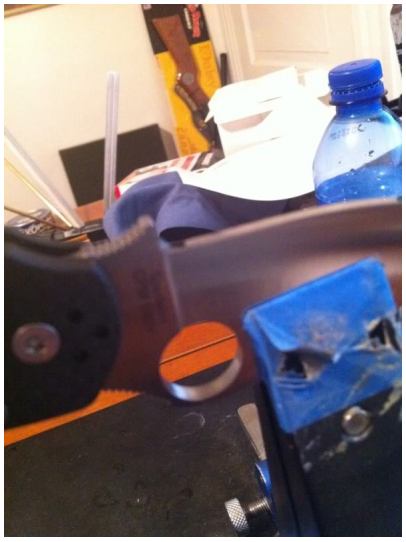
Paramilitary 2 Sharpening

Posted by pazach7 - 13 Nov 2011 22:14

Looking for a little advice here.

I'm sharpening my Para 2 on the wicked edge w/ 34 degree inclusive angle. Seem to be having some difficulty at the heel. There is a very small area at the heel that the stones don't hit. I clamp at position 2 and line it up to B. any advice would be appreciated.



==========

Re: Paramilitary 2 Sharpening

Posted by cbwx34 - 04 Dec 2012 16:33

Hey Mark, welcome to the forum!

It's not the exact same knife, but I think if you mount the knife so that the edge is more parallel to the clamp, like I showed a few posts down in this thread...

wickededgeusa.com/index.php?option=com_k...d=7126&Itemid=63

It should also create better clearance in this area.

Let me know if that works or not.

==========

Re: Paramilitary 2 Sharpening

Posted by markrmyers - 04 Dec 2012 17:15

---

cbwx34 wrote:

Hey Mark, welcome to the forum!

It's not the exact same knife, but I think if you mount the knife so that the edge is more parallel to the clamp, like I showed a few posts down in this thread...

wickededgeusa.com/index.php?option=com_k...d=7126&Itemid=63

It should also create better clearance in this area.

Let me know if that works or not.

Thanks! I'm new to this forum but have been using my WE for a little over a year now. Great resource you have here in the forum!

I tried different mounting positions in combination with both depth locations and no luck. The plastic of the handle hits the pointy bit on the choil by the ricasso as shown in the first photo in this thread, making it not possible to use the stone on that last part of the blade.

==========